Banking Relationship and Account Tariff

Sole relationships

You will be charged an annual tariff of £900 (or currency equivalent) for your sole Coutts Crown Dependencies Private Client banking relationship (this includes maintaining your account). This tariff will be pro-rated and applied quarterly in arrears in March, June, September and December.

We will waive your quarterly tariff in whole or in part based on the average value of combined assets and liabilities that you hold in sole/joint accounts with us. The average value of your combined assets and liabilities will be based on your deposit balances, the absolute value of drawdown borrowings (excluding overdrafts) and the value of your qualifying investments on the last day of each month in the quarter. Please see the table below for an explanation of how we will calculate your tariff each quarter.

Joint relationships

You will also be charged an annual tariff of £900 (or currency equivalent) for each joint relationship you hold with us. This tariff will be pro-rated and applied quarterly in arrears in March, June, September & December. The joint relationship tariff will not be charged if all parties to the relationship also hold a sole relationship with us.

We will waive the quarterly tariff in whole or in part based on the average value of combined assets and liabilities held in the joint relationship. The average value of your combined assets and liabilities will be based on your deposit balances, the absolute value of drawdown borrowings (excluding overdrafts) and the value of your qualifying investments on the last day of each month in the quarter. We will consider the combined assets and liabilities of all accounts contained within the joint relationship in question.

We are also able to consider assets and liabilities that members of your immediate family hold with us when calculating your quarterly tariff. Please see the section titled Family Members for more information on how this works.

The tariff for sole and joint relationships will be calculated based on the following criteria each quarter:

Average value of combined assets and liabilities	Quarterly tariff
£0 – £499,999	£225
£500,000 – £999,999	£75
£1,000,000+	£0

Notes:

- The absolute value of borrowings (excluding overdrafts) that are drawdown at the time of the fee calculation is considered. For instance, if you have £1,000,000 outstanding on your Lombard Lending Facility, we will add +£1,000,000 to your deposits and qualifying investments when calculating your combined assets and liabilities
- Please note, investments qualifying under one of the sub-paragraphs will not be recounted under any other.

Qualifying investments include:

- investments that are managed through either a discretionary or advisory portfolio relationship
- CMAF & PPF fund ranges
- investments placed through our Execution Only Dealing Service, or any other investment products, held in custody with us

Before we debit your account, however, we will give you at least 14 days' notice of the amount to be deducted, except when the account is to be closed.

Family members

We realise that members of your immediate family (your spouse, partner or dependent children between 18 and 26 years of age) may choose to bank with Coutts Crown Dependencies. In recognition of this fact we are able to (subject to certain conditions) link Private Client accounts held by your immediate family under a single Fee Family and consider the combined value of your collective assets and liabilities when calculating the quarterly relationship tariff for individuals included in the Fee Family.

Please discuss this with your private banker if you would like to be set up as part of a Fee Family.

The Coutts Crown Dependencies Reference Rate tracks the Bank of England Base Rate and will move automatically with the Bank of England Base Rate. Details of the latest Reference Rate, and any options for non Sterling currencies (if applicable), are available by contacting your Private Banker.

Interest on your overdrafts will be calculated on your daily balances and debited from your Current Account at the end of March, June, September and December each year. Before we debit your Account, however, we will give you at least 14 days' notice of the amount to be deducted.

Notice will not be given if we have demanded that the overdraft is repaid and you have not done so.

If you close your Account, we will calculate any interest that you owe and debit it from your Current Account.
